Morrison government’s net zero plan will ensure ‘economic prosperity continues’

October 25, 2021 - 01:17AM sky news .COM.AU

Liberal Senator Hollie Hughes says the Morrison government’s plan for net zero emissions by 2050 will have a very strong emphasis on “ensuring economic prosperity continues” for Australia.

“The plan is going to be focused on the fact that when we move to net zero, it’s not going to be focused on increasing taxation on everyday Australians and businesses,” Ms Hughes told Sky News host Chris Smith.
